Las Vegas, Nevada (PRWEB) October 12, 2006 -- Luxury Realty Group recently launched www.LasVegasHighRiseBlog.com to provide a discussion forum about the latest trends, upcoming projects and market updates for the Las Vegas Luxury High Rise real estate market. Luxury Realty Group agents are contributors to this new Blog, resulting in a content rich mix of news, trends and market research about planned, new and existing luxury high rise homes in Las Vegas.

With Luxury Realty Group agents contributing to the Blog on a frequent basis, it gives LasVegasHighRiseBlog.com readers fresh information about the various luxury high rise condo and condo-hotel projects in Las Vegas.

"With Las Vegas being an international destination, we created a forum for luxury real estate consumers to stay up-to-date with the latest luxury high rise home trends in Las Vegas," said Bruce Hiatt, broker and co-owner of Luxury Realty Group. "Further, this Blog provides a destination for luxury real estate consumers to contribute their opinions and perspectives about the Las Vegas luxury high rise market. In addition to luxury real estate consumer contributions, our agents will provide frequent market updates and trends to the Blog for luxury real estate consumers."

The Blog will provide a central focal point for luxury real estate consumers interested in the Las Vegas market to exchange ideas, post opinions, view various Blog contributions and establish an ongoing dialogue with various Luxury Realty Group agents and brokers.

Current topics posted to the Blog include October's luxury high rise market update and specific high rise project updates such as Cosmopolitan and Sky Las Vegas.
